Private Snowboard Lesson (PSBL1)

One on one is the way to go. If you don't want to be in a group lesson...a private with a certified Snow Pro is the way to go. Yes it's more expensive but the value is huge compared to a group lesson. In a group of 4 you receive 15 minutes of attention even though the entire group is getting the attention. Instructors are trained to do this. However, in a private the entire lesson is focused on you. You learn quickly, easy and are usually able to ski on your own after the lesson. The instructors determine how you snowboard now if you do and go through routines to bring you to the next step. It can take a few lessons to become proficient so be patient if you have not become a pro in one session.

- Private $45.00 per hr (tax in)

Semi Private Snowboard Lesson (SPSBL1)

Ok, now you get to bring a friend or family member along. Probably best to be a friend. You can have more than one friend join you for $10 more per person...but too many makes it like a group so try to restrict to only one good friend. You will be assessed where your skill, level currently is and the Snow Pro will formalize a plan to get you both to the next step to becoming proficient in snowboarding.

- Private$45.00 per hr plus $10 each additional friend.
